

The NACCHO Health Equity Campaign invites you to join the growing network of LHDs who have viewed the acclaimed documentary series Unnatural Causes: Is Equality Making Us Sick? and used the series to foster dialogue about health equity in communities across the US. NACCHO is proud to make Unnatural Causes available to LHDs committed to tackling health inequity. The film is powerful tool that can help educate staff and the public about the roots of health inequities.

By joining the Health Equity Campaign, LHDs can receive a free DVD of the series and must agree to host at least one screening event, community dialogue, town hall, or training session using the film. As a Health Equity Campaign partner, your LHDs name will appear on the NACCHO website and you'll also have access to a free toolkit, discussion guidelines, handouts, and other resources provided by series producers California Newsreel. To join, please complete the form below and send to kgray@naccho.org.
