The Local Health Department National Coalition for Health Equity

Purpose

The Local Health Department National Coalition for Health Equity, open to all local health departments (LHDs), is a new organization designed to tackle the fundamental causes of inequity in the distribution of disease and illness. We are dedicated to strengthening the organizational influence and capacity of LHDs toward that goal. Our strategy is to institutionalize action to achieve health equity.

Expectations for Member Departments

- Share with NACCHO examples of innovative practice and initiatives for publication on the NACCHO Website
- Initiate local dialogues and action in follow-up to the Unnatural Causes documentary and otherwise engage with/mobilize community action
- Build sustainable coalitions and connect with relevant social movement organizations and institutions outside of public health
- Support outreach to mass media and engage in media campaigns to focus on the social roots of health inequity.
- Use LHD websites and newsletters to inform members and the public
- Pilot NACCHO Guidelines for Achieving Health Equity through Public Health Practice
