Purpose

The National Association of County and City Health Officials (NACCHO) is seeking qualified consultants to provide technical support and guidance to local health department (LHD) awardees for the Building Workforce Capacity of Rural and Frontier Local Health Departments to Respond to COVID-19 Program. The consultant will engage with NACCHO staff and awarded sites to provide tailored technical assistance that builds the workforce capacity of LHDs related to their contract tracing and testing (CTT) and vaccine administration efforts. In addition to specific topic areas listed below, Consultants should have knowledge of the local health department public health preparedness and response.

Overview

NACCHO is the voice of nearly 3,000 local health departments across the country. These city, county, metropolitan, district, and tribal departments work to protect and improve the health of all people and all communities. NACCHO provides resources to help LHD leaders develop public health policies and programs to ensure that communities have access to the vital programs and services people need to keep them protected from disease and disaster. Additionally, NACCHO advocates on behalf of LHDs with federal policymakers for adequate resources, appropriate public health legislation, and sensible policies to address the myriad of challenges facing communities.

With support from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), NACCHO has funded 29 rural and/or frontier health departments to help build their workforce capacity to respond to COVID-19. Applicants competitively applied for funding awards of up to $35,000 to support contact tracing and testing and vaccine administration activities. In addition to such activities, NACCHO would plans to fund & identify up to three (3) additional LHD to conduct training and technical assistance needs in the following areas: (1) technical training, (2) health equity, (3) public communications, (4) public health authority, (5) procurement, and (6) reporting. NACCHO will provide technical assistance and training across all six (6) areas, but will focus more heavily on the following topics:

1. Technical Training: Contract Testing and Tracing & Vaccine Administration
2. Health Equity
3. Public Health Communication

Each LHD site will create an action plan that identifies goals and activities around CTT and vaccine administration that also incorporates the topics above. NACCHO is seeking applications for experienced consultants to provide tailored training and technical assistance in one or more of these areas to awardees throughout the project period.

For more information, please find the participant RFA here.

Eligibility

Technical assistance providers with demonstrated experience providing expert capacity-building technical assistance in health equity areas to a large cohort of communities are eligible to apply. Competitive applicants will also demonstrate experience working with LHDs. All TA provided must 1) be centered in racial equity, 2) delivered to LHDs and relevant community-level multisectoral partnerships/coalitions, 3) be relevant to emergency response planning efforts, particularly in the areas of vaccine administration and contact tracing and testing, and 4) be designed and delivered in coordination with NACCHO, CDC, other project TA providers.
