Spectrum of Interventions

Action Step: Spectrum of Intervention

Overview
Understand interventions as they relate to the broad range of public health response strategies.

Purpose
This tool will help your public health and safety partnership understand your evidence-based overdose prevention interventions on a continuum from “transformational” to “emergency”. They should correspond with both public health and clinical intervention categories.

When to Use This Resource
Your partnership can use this spectrum when identifying existing interventions or considering new interventions. Members can organize interventions along the spectrum to determine if intervention strategies should be diversified. Use this as a reference or companion resource as your public health and safety partnership works through Module 3 activities.
